Question

Can selections be retained in Circulation > Options > Session Preferences between sessions?

Answer

Some Circulation session preferences are applied per session and will be reset to the default setting when Circulation is closed; some settings are set permanently at the policy level in System Administration > Circulation > Policy Definitions > [policy] > Locations > {operator's happening location}; some settings are stored in the Windows Registry for the user and persist from session to session.

For a full list of which preferences are persistent and which are session specific, see this article for details: Which Voyager Circulation preferences reset upon logout, or persist until changed?
