

xserver search statistics

- Article Type: General
 - Product: Aleph
 - Product Version: 20
-

Description:

Do x-server searches get counted as OPAC searches? If so, is there a way to identify/isolate them?

Resolution:

X-SERVICE events are not included in the z69 OPAC event table, that is, there is no z69_event_type for x-server access. KB 16384-15102 is a request to change this; this request is under Product Manager Review.

That KB notes that the x-server events are included in the [xxx01] z35 table, but, looking in this table, I don't see anything to indicate an x-server search.

The following grep in a www_server log will give you a basic count:

```
grep -c 'X SERVICE' www_server_4991.log
```

- Article last edited: 10/8/2013