
Oracle Zero Day Security Vulnerability

- Article Type: General
- Product: Aleph
- Product Version: 20

Description:

Related Info:

<http://www.h-online.com/security/news/item/Vulnerability-in-Oracle-11gR2-allows-system-privileges-for-all-Update-923143.html>

http://www.darkreading.com/database_security/security/app-security/showArticle.jhtml?articleID=222700742

Question: Will the suggested workaround adversely affect Aleph?

Oracle's current workaround is to remove execute from public for the following sys packages:

DBMS_JAVA

DBMS_JAVA_TEST

DBMS_JVM_EXP_PERMS

Resolution:

Written 14 Feb. 2010:

Aleph is still using Oracle 11gv1, while this warning applies to 11gv2.

Therefore no need to do anything.

Additional Information

Oracle Zero Day Security Vulnerability

- Article last edited: 10/8/2013