Voyager acquisitions data displayed in the Verde pop-up window

- Article Type: General

Description:

The way Voyager acquisitions data is displayed in the Verde pop-up window is not convenient. The window has a fixed size and the data is not left justified. This makes the work with it very difficult.

The length of the 'line item note' does affect the layout, but even if it's removed completely, the layout improves but still does not fit within the visible window.

The data should be aligned to the left and if possible, the length of the lines should be limited.
