Description:

I have just downloaded (i.e. by FTP) my first EDI Invoice file from Yankee. It is similar to what I see from EBSCO, but there does not seem to be anything in the way of end-of-line coding, neither carriage-return nor line-feed. So am wondering if this file will work properly in EDI-09 ??

Resolution:

It's not at all unusual to see EDI files lacking the LF/CR characters. The only required delimited is the single quote delimiter. All you need to do to confirm that it's EDItEUR compliant is run the first step in the load process (edi-09). If you see a normal rendering of the file in XML in the xml_incoming directory, all is well.

Additional Information

LF CR carriage return line feed
