Question

I removed a left-anchored index in System Administration, and I don't see any options to put it back in place. How do get this index back?

Answer

These indexes cannot be recreated in the client, and can only be replaced as a for-fee service. If you have deleted a left-anchored index, open a Support Incident via eService to receive a quote and schedule time to replace the index.

Do not delete left-anchored indexes unless you wish to PERMANENTLY delete the index. You can staff suppress indexes you do not wish to use. Give careful consideration to whether you wish to permanently delete an index before proceeding.

Additional Information

See System Administration User's Guide, Chapter 8: Search Configuration, "Indexes - Headings & Left-Anchored Definitions" for more information.
