

Linux issues "No more processes" message

Description

The server is extremely slow: a batch job which should take just a few minutes has been running for an hour.

When one attempts a new login, it's extremely slow and when it does respond, it's with the message "No more processes".

Resolution

Rebooting the server corrected this.